

Intern with the Office of the Gaming Inspector General - NYC Non-Paid/Credit

The Offices of the New York State Inspector General investigates allegations of corruption, fraud, criminal activity, conflicts of interest or abuse in New York State agencies within its jurisdiction. The Office of the Gaming Inspector General is dedicated to oversight of the New York State Gaming Commission (NYSGC).

The Office of the Gaming Inspector General is seeking bright, dynamic, and hard-working students to assist with investigations of allegations of corruption, fraud, criminal activity, and conflicts of interests or abuse in the NYSGC, including NYSGC employees and individuals/entities that conduct business with and/or are licensed by the NYSGC.

Candidates should be proficient in word processing, spreadsheet, database, and presentation software. The ability to work independently and collaboratively as a member of the office is essential. Interns will be exposed to a number of different experiences, including, but not limited to attending public meetings, participating in interviews, preparing data analysis and/or memoranda.

Duties include, but are not limited to, data entry; development of investigative strategies and leads; review and analysis of documents/records for evidence and additional leads; preparation for witness interviews and/or presentation of data.

Minimum qualifications: Third-year college/university students majoring in Accounting, Criminal Justice, Fraud Examination/Financial Forensics, Pre-Law preferred.

Preferred qualifications: Fourth-year college/university or graduate-level students. Qualified candidates should possess excellent research, analytical, writing, organizational, and time management skills.

For semester internships, candidates are asked to commit to 15-20 hours per week. All candidates must submit a cover letter, resume, writing sample and references. Please email these documents to Internships@IG.NY.gov with “Gaming Intern” in the subject line.

Candidates from diverse backgrounds are encouraged to apply. OIG is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to workplace diversity.